

Blueprints Essay

This essay is about my “blueprint” for making my Blueprint Community a better place to live. Since the word “blueprint” is a plan for the best way to build something. I’m going to tell you about the centerpiece of the community. That’s going to be a library building of three floors.

The first floor will have computers and a tutor. The computers are for people and school students that want, and need to use them. The tutor is for students that need help with their homework.

I would imagine the second floor would have rows and rows of books, not only in English but also in Spanish. These books are because I love to read. Also, I know many Spanish adults and school students that like to read but do not read in English. The books are very important because you learn from them and they also make you a better reader.

The third floor will have a bilingual teacher or adults that will teach English to people that don’t speak the language. It could also be for other languages also. This will make the community more together rather than it being spperated into different “groups”.

The library is the center of my community because people go there to do research, do homework to find information and to send e-mail. Good communication is a big part of a great community. All ages of people benefit from the library. Since teaching and learning make brighter individuals, a community needs a library to help people communicate, learn, and grow together.
